A LUDICROUS OCCURRENCE-A CAT IN A MELODEON. During Ascension Day services, in an up-town church yesterday, a ludicrous scene occurred, as such things sometimes do upon the most solemn occasions. The church is a small Roman Catholic edifice, and a melodeon is used as the instrumental accompaniment to the choir. To perform on this instrument a young lady-daughter of a well known Alderman-is engaged, and yesterday, just as she had begun to play upon the instrument, a loud squeal, like that of a cat, greeted the ears of the whole congregation. Nothing daunted, the young lady continued her performance, and every time she would use the pedal the squeal would startle the player, the priest, the choir and the congregation. During an interval in the music, the instrument was examined, and lo and behold! a good-sized pet cat, of the Thomas gender, and the property of the Revi erend Father then officiating, was found/inside of the melodeon, in just such a place where he would get squeezed when the pedal was used Efforts were made to get poor Toonen-toon out of his uncomfortable quarters, but before it could be done it was time to go on with the music again. The young lady, determined to play in spite of Tommy's squeals, and squeal he did, and loudly too, causing a general titter in the congregation and interrupting the services. The ceremonies over, Tom was released from his perilous place, though hardly able to walk, and and he retired, let us hope, a wiser if not a better Thomas-cat. He will probably house in Tolon Noor : "A long passage led us into a spacious apartment in which were symmetrically set forth a number of little tables. Seating conselves at one of these, a teapot, the inevitable prelude in these countries to every meal, was set before each of us. You must swallow infinite tea, and that boiling hot, before they will consent to bring you anything else. At last, when they see you thus occupied, the Comptroller of the Table pays you his official visit; a personage of immensely elegant manners and ceaseless volubility of tongue, who, after entertaining you with his views upon the affairs of the world in general, and each country in particular, con-cludes by announcing what there is to eat, and requesting your judgment thereupon. As you mention the dishes you desire he repeats their names in a measured chant, for the information of the Governor of the Pot. Your dinner is served up with admirable promptitude, but before you commence the meal etiquette re-
